I'm in the fifth year of my medical studies at the University of Debrecen, Hungary. The honour that I can attend this conference has double source. On one hand I spent a clinical practice at the Department of Ophthalmology of the Silesian Medical University from the 17th of July until the 6th of August in 2017. On the other hand I joined a research group at the Pathology Department of our university which investigates corneal tissue alterations in different corneal diseases. Our current work focuses on the extracellular changes in Fuchs' endothelial dystrophy and bullous keratopathy.
